Ikeda Sends Note To K'chev, Asks Return of Islands

U.N. Troops Occupy Key Points in Elisabethville

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—In a great show of armed strength, the United Nations put Elisabethville under a virtual state of siege early Monday.

The move apparently was designed to bring the seceded richest province of the former Belgian Congo under the rule of the United Nations-supported Leopoldville Government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Acting on an appeal by President Joseph Kasavubu, of the Congo, the United Nations troops seized the radio station, the airport, the post office, and summarily arrested European soldiers and officers and deported them at once at the United Nations controlled northern Katanga military base of Kamina.

Indian Brig. Singappa Raja, commander of the U.N. forces in Elisabethville, reported the arrest of 68 of the 312 Europeans serving the Katanga government.

Meanwhile the United Nations troops at first put Godefrois Munongo, the Katanga strong man and its minister of interior, under house arrest by surrounding his residence with U.N. troops.

But later Katanga President Moise Tshombe drove through the U.N. cordon and left with Munongo whom he escorted to his own residence.

Although there was an early complete stoppage of work normal life quickly returned to the city.

Tshombe, to wild acclaims, toured part of the city asking all to resume work and remain calm.

The United Nations sudden take over was apparently prompted by the U.N. representative's apparent failure to convince Munongo not to stir up the Katanga population against U.N. troops.

Tshombe very early Monday morning visited the post office and after seeing the whole area had been occupied by the United Nations he left.

U.N. representative saw Tshombe later and told newsmen that "he seems to be accepting the situation."

Last week Munongo had violently attacked U.N. activities in the former Belgian colony in speeches and press conferences.

A U.N. news bulletin over Katanga radio said Premier Adoula had again invited President Tshombe to Leopoldville. Adoula reportedly said that a solution to Katanga's secession must be found—not Tshombe's way but "a Congolese way."

Adoula added in his message that all decisions must be made by the Leopoldville Parliament and Katanga's deputies should negotiate.

Conor Cruise O'Brien, U.N. representative in Katanga, reported "a few shots were fired but nobody was hurt."

Katangese do not seem particularly worried by the U.N. takeover. One government official commented, "We are used to this. Nothing lasts more than six hours here."

With Mercy Blood

Heart Operation On Boy Completed

Four-year-old Eisuke Ichinari underwent a long and delicate heart operation last night as blood, given by Japanese and foreign donors, circulated through his body from an artificial heart.

The operation was conducted at the Tokyo Women's Medical College Hospital by renowned heart surgeon Dr. Shigeru Sakakibara, who has done more than 500 heart operations.

Dr. Sakakibara said after the operation, which lasted from 7:30 p.m. until 9:45 p.m., that the case was the most serious of some 150 operations of this type he had performed, and that he was very much concerned when the child's heart stopped beating as he started the operation.

He said, however, that the heart started to beat again as the blood transfusion was continued and he felt it was all right.

Dr. Sakakibara added that he believed there was no danger of any complication arising.

The little Tokyo boy suffered from damage caused to the core of the heart ventricles. Because of a hole between the right and left ventricles, the ventricles themselves, blood veins and lungs operated abnormally. If left uncured, he would die sooner or later.

Dr. Sakakibara sewed up the hole.

Little Eisuke's trouble was compounded by the fact that he had a very rare type of blood for a Japanese—AB type with Rh negative factor.

Ten Japanese and four foreigners had their AB type blood with Rh negative factor drawn at the Japan Red Cross Trans-

3 S. Korean Newsmen Get Death Rap

SEOUL (AP)—Three officials of a Socialist daily newspaper were sentenced to death by a South Korean panel of military officers and civilians Monday after the trio was judged guilty of pro-Communist activities.

The panel of three officers and two civilians sentenced a Minjo Ilbo editorial writer to 15 years, two staff members to 10 years, two others to five years and acquitted five including one woman.

The three facing death sentences are publisher Cho Yong Soo, 31; auditor An Shin Kyoo, 42, and Song Chi Yung, 46, head of a separate advertising firm and an adviser to the paper.

The 13 were accused of operating an organization which praised and encouraged peaceful unification with Communist North Korea. They were charged with receiving operating funds from pro-Communist Korean residents in Japan.

The death sentences are subject to appeal to a higher military court.

Trial for the 13 began July 29. The prosecution demanded the death penalty for four. The fourth, Yang Shil Kun, a sailor charged with serving as a contact with sources in Japan, receiving a five-year term.

A South Korean prosecutor Monday demanded in revolutionary court the death penalty for two army colonels and life imprisonment for a brigadier general on charges of attempting to oppose revolutionary troops during the May 16 coup.

Standing trial were Brig. Gen. Lee Sang Kook, former commander of the 30th Reserve Division, and his two aides, Col. Lee Kap Yung and Col. Park Sang Hoon. They were accused of dispatching a company of military policemen to the city hall plaza on the dawn of May 16 allegedly to oppose coup troops marching into the capital.

The trio testified they sent in the MPs on the order of Lt. Gen. Chang Do Yung, then army chief of staff and now retired, to crush what they thought was a rebellion by a group of disgruntled troops.

Nehru Says Two Berlin's Sealing Off 'Harmful'

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told Parliament Monday the sealing off of East and West Berlin by the Soviets causes "tremendous misery."

He said in clarification of his Wednesday speech to the Upper House "a terrific barrier has been put up in Berlin—I hope that it is a temporary barrier."

He added: "In strict law it may be justified but from every point of view it is a harmful thing. From the human point of view it causes tremendous misery."

Again he called for negotiations to settle the Berlin and German problems.

Nehru's lengthly clarification obviously was designed to still the storm raised in the West by his earlier speech which appeared to back the Soviet position from the legal point of view.

He said he believed, "in spite of basic differences of approach" between the East and West, that there was enough area of agreement that "it should not be difficult to find some basis of agreement" on Germany and Berlin.

He added "any agreement should take the human approach and not stick to legal niceties." He then returned to the sealing off of East Berlin with the statement "it's very odd that these barriers are put in the way of movement and the cause of untold misery."

He emphasized again his belief that Western access to Berlin "should be full and should continue as heretofore. It is essential that it be agreed and guaranteed that access be continued."

He said even Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had admitted this. "If this is done clearly and definitely some of the heat would go."

Nehru explained that in his Wednesday speech—which contained the phrase that the West was in Berlin not by right but by Soviet concession—he was trying to analyze the problem from a legal aspect.

He said he felt that there was no strong legal basis for either side "because of the changes that have occurred."

He said each side accuses the other of breaking agreements.

Nehru's Berlin statement is likely to be the last he issues before departing for the neutral conference in Belgrade beginning Sept. 10.

Western diplomats, who were quickly informed of Monday's speech, showed elation at Nehru's comments.

Korean Airlines Head Found Dead

SEOUL (UPI)—The body of Shin Yong Wook, president of Korean National Airlines, was found Monday on the bank of a river near Seoul City Airport.

Shin, who had been missing since Friday, had apparently committed suicide, authorities said.

He had been investigated as an "illegal profiteer" and was deeply in debt, authorities said. His family made official identification of the body.

Ikeda to Visit Southeast Asia

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda will probably leave for a trip to Southeast Asia some time after the middle of November, Chief Cabinet Secretary Masayoshi Ohira said yesterday.

Ikeda's itinerary has not been drafted yet.

Ohira also said he favored appointing two Japanese ambassadors to the United Nations.

U.S., U.K. Offer Total Disarm Plan

GENEVA (AP)—The United States and Britain offered Monday to negotiate with Russia a nuclear test ban treaty covering even the smallest tactical atomic weapons.

U.S. delegate Arthur H. Dean made the offer on behalf of the two Western powers at the opening of a critical phase of the deadlocked 34-month-old talks.

For the first time since the talks opened Oct. 31, 1958, the West held out a prospect of a total ban on all nuclear tests, including those too small to be policed by known long-range detection methods.

But as a condition for such a total ban, the West demanded a substantial strengthening of the international control and inspection system as hitherto envisaged.

The talks have been stalemated all this year because of an unacceptable Soviet veto demand which in the Western view would paralyze the entire inspection system.

It was the 337th meeting and the first for several months, and under the usual rotation system, Russia's Semyon Tsarapkin was in the chair.

Commodore Perry Honored by Church

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—A tablet in memory of Commodore Matthew J. C. Perry, who opened Japan to the modern world, was unveiled in historic Trinity Church in his home town Sunday.

Sen. Claiborne Pell (D-R.I.), a parishioner of the church in which Perry was baptized, was the principal speaker during ceremonies held as part of the morning worship service. He was joined in the tribute by Genichi Akatani, first secretary of cultural affairs of the Japanese Embassy in Washington.

Yamada Meets Gromyko

Japan Asks Soviet To Return Fishers

The Government yesterday demanded that the Soviet Government immediately release and return 13 small Japanese fishing boats and their 32 crew seized by Soviet patrol boats in waters near Kaigara and Suisho islands east of Nemuro last Wednesday.

The demand was made when Ambassador Hisanari Yamada in Moscow met Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko yesterday to deliver Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's reply to Premier Nikita Khrushchev's recent personal message to Ikeda.

The Government asked the Russians to direct their special attention to the poverty of the captured fishermen, among whom are two high school students.

Last Wednesday, the Government protested to the Soviet Government through Yamada the seizure of five mackerel fishing boats by Soviet patrol boats on the open seas off the coast of Hokkaido Aug. 20 and demanded the immediate return of the boats and their crew.

The Foreign Office is taking a serious view of the fact that the Russians had captured so many Japanese fishing boats at about the time Soviet First Deputy Premier was carrying out a "peace offensive" in Japan.

Yamada also asked Gromyko yesterday to permit Japanese to visit Japanese graves in Kunashiri, Etorofu, Habomai and Shikotan islands and in various areas of Siberia except Khabarovsk and Chita which a graves mission already visited recently.

The Government instructed Yamada to ask the Soviet Government for permission to visit other graves in Siberia in view of Mikoyan's statement while in Japan that "the problem of visiting graves can be settled through administrative level talks between the foreign ministries of the two countries."

Scientists Puzzled By Tidal Waves

HONOLULU (UPI)—A weekend of study and discussion of tidal waves at the 10th Pacific Science Congress indicated Sunday that scientists know approximately as much about their killer potential as they do the behavior and handling of sharks.

Which is to say: Not enough.

More than 100 seismologists and oceanographers from all parts of the Pacific, plus some from the Atlantic, sat through more than seven hours of calculus-studded discussion and diagraming. Then they took field trips Sunday to study the subject further.

When it was all over nobody seemed prepared to set up and say exactly what causes one earthquake or similar ocean disturbance to set off a tsunami (tidal wave) one time while similar occurrences on other occasions make hardly a ripple of the sea.

Dr. Ryutaro Takahashi, Tokyo University earthquake researcher, said Japan was used to dealing with tidal waves spawned by earthquakes near Japanese shores, but the Chilean quake-born tidal wave of May, 1960, hit places where no tidal waves had struck before and left in its wake 114 dead, 90 missing and 25 seriously injured Japanese.

JSP Attacks, DSP Backs Ikeda Reply

Kanjiro Sato, director of the Japan Socialist Party Education and Propaganda Bureau, said yesterday that Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's reply to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev failed to respond to the intentions of the Soviet Union expressed in the Khrushchev note to Ikeda.

Sato said the reply was not at one with the nation's desire to establish friendly relations with the Soviet Union.

He criticized the statement by the Prime Minister that Japan-Soviet cooperation should be established according to the Japan-Soviet joint declaration of 1956.

It is the Government, he said, that violated the joint declaration and obstructed the conclusion of a Japan-Soviet peace treaty by strengthening "the Japan-U.S. military pact."

The Socialist leader also said the Ikeda Government regarded the Soviet warning concerning the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty as interference in the internal affairs of this country.

This attitude Sato said, is an indication that the Japanese Government leaders do not really wish to improve relations with the Soviet Union.

Sato declared that Ikeda should listen to "the nation's voice" and follow a policy which will help to establish friendly relations with the Soviet Union and promote world peace.

Ryosaku Sasaki, deputy secretary general of the Democratic Socialist Party, said his party supported Ikeda's reply to Khrushchev.

Sasaki said the party's support was based on the principles of peaceful solution of international problems, denial of armed threat and pressure and noninterferance in internal affairs of other nations which are clearly stated in the Ikeda reply.

Sasaki added, however, that Ikeda's reply failed to present concrete plans by which to normalize relations and promote friendship between Japan and the Soviet Union.

The Ikeda reply did not go beyond criticism of the Khrushchev note to Ikeda, Sasaki said.

The Democratic Socialist leader said the Government should have expressed its positive attitude in the reply in regard to concluding a Japan-Soviet peace treaty and cooperating with each other in an effort to maintain peace in the Far East.

At the same time, Sasaki said, the Government should have told the Russians of the Japanese determination to contribute to relaxing the current international tension and promoting world peace.

Refutes Charge U.S.-Japan Pact Obstacle to Ties

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev yesterday that the Soviet Union "can open the way for a peace treaty by returning to Japan territories which are integrally hers."

Ikeda, in a message to the Soviet leader, also refuted the Soviet charge that the United States-Japan Security Treaty is blocking complete normalization of Japan-Soviet relations.

Ikeda's letter which was handed to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko by Ambassador Hisanari Yamada in Moscow yesterday evening, was a reply to Khrushchev's letter to Ikeda delivered personally by Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan when he met Ikeda Aug. 16 during his recent visit in Japan.

Text of Reply, Page 8

Ikeda stressed that complete normalization of the relations between the two countries, as called for by Khrushchev, is possible only when the two nations mutually give recognition to the other's position and, on the basis of this mutual recognition, faithfully abide by the Japan-Soviet joint declaration of 1956.

Ikeda added that a peace treaty will be possible if the Soviet Union returns to Japan territories that historically belong to Japan.

(Foreign Office sources interpreted "territories historically belonging to Japan," as meaning the Habomai and Shikotan islands and the South Kuriles chain, including Kunashiri and Etorofu islands.)

The Prime Minister said the Russian demands for abrogation of the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty, which is a defensive treaty based on the United Nations Charter, were "beyond the understanding of the Japanese people." He added:

"To interpret unilaterally and subjectively and to denounce the foreign and defense policies of another country and then to call on that country to change those policies is, I must say, quite inconsistent with the principle of noninterference in the domestic affairs of other countries which Your Excellency has stated as being the policy of the Soviet Government."

The letter continued that it was also difficult for the Japanese people to see why the Russians had concluded military alliances with Communist China, North Korea and other countries or maintain military bases in Eastern Europe while calling on the West to completely eliminate military blocs.

On expansion of Japan-Soviet trade, the Prime Minister's letter suggested the volume of trade between the two countries might jump if the Soviet Union buys more consumer goods from Japan.

The letter also expressed Japanese readiness to make a proposal concerning a cultural exchange agreement.

The letter further expressed the hope that "the Soviet Government will not render impossible the conclusion of an agreement to end nuclear testing by

Brazil Tense; Goulart 'Undecided' on Plans

BRASILIA (UPI)—Warships loaded with troops were reported Monday heading toward the potential "rebel" capital of Porto Allegre, heightening tension in the Brazilian crisis caused by the resignation of President Janio Quadros.

The British-built aircraft carrier Minas Gerais sailed Sunday from Rio de Janeiro, accompanied by the U.S.-built light cruiser Tamandare and an unidentified destroyer.

The Navy refused to say where the ships were headed, but unconfirmed reports said they were on the way to Porto Allegre, stronghold of Vice President Joao (Jango) Goulart, the extreme leftist the Army is determined to bar from the Presidency.

The Minas Gerais carried no planes, and the reports said the 13,190-ton vessel had troops aboard.

Goulart paused in Paris Sunday on his way home from a tour of Red China. Brazilian sources in the French capital said he had "suspended his decision" as to whether to go to Brazil.

War Minister Odilio Denys, the de facto ruler of the country, had been quoted as threatening to jail Goulart the moment he stepped onto Brazilian soil.

In Porto Allegre, however, Leonel Brizola, Goulart's brother-in-law and governor of Rio Grande do Sul State, said the Vice President had told him by telephone that he would return to assume the Presidency.

Brizola broadcast his statement from his official residence, which had been sand-bagged and surrounded by armed guards.

Federal authorities closed two Porto Allegre radio stations Sunday for broadcasting pro-Goulart statements. Brizola moved the transmitter of a third radio station into his embattled headquarters "to correctly inform the public."

Congress meets here Monday, after a night of top-level talks among civilian and military leaders, and the Government is expected to ask it to approve a constitutional amendment designed to exclude Goulart from the Presidency.

Lott Arrested

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Former War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott was arrested after making public an appeal to War Minister Marshal Odilio Denys on behalf of Goulart. Lott had told newsmen he had been informed Denys intended to arrest the Vice President the minute he landed in Brazil. Lott said he "tried to persuade him . . . from performing such a violent act, but I was unsuccessful."

Rio newspapers were prevented by the Government from printing Lott's statement and the retired general was reported hauled to an Army fortress in Guanabara Bay for internment.

Lott was beaten to the presidency by Quadros in the 1960 election. Goulart was his running mate and won under the Brazilian voting system that allows ticket splitting.

Meanwhile, the Foreign Office suddenly suspended negotiations with the Soviet Union for restoration of diplomatic relations after a 14-year break—negotiations that contributed to Quadros' downfall and which Goulart wholeheartedly supported.

At W. Berlin Youths

East German Guards Fire Warning Shots

BERLIN (AP)—Shots were fired and Communist police pelted with stones in two skirmishes along the dynamite-laden 25-mile border in Berlin Sunday.

But these incidents remained the only ones reported by either side in the divided city early Monday.

The East German official news agency ADN said some West German youths crossed the East German "state border" in the northern borough of Frohnau, trying to remove Communist border installations.

Border guards of Communist East Germany fired warning shots to drive the youths back into West Berlin, said ADN.

The agency called the incident "another serious provocation." It claimed the alleged intruders were instigated by the administration of West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt who was trying to increase tension.

West Berlin police could not confirm the shooting incident but said a police cruiser in the area had heard several distant shots.

Earlier Sunday night, in the district of Kreuzberg, some 800 West Berlin youths milling around the Communist-built concrete wall that now fences off East from West Berlin hurled rocks at Communist East German police near the wall.

The Communist police had first turned their water thrower on the youths because they got too close to the wall. U.S. troops and West Berlin police drove the crowd back.

Otherwise, it had been a quiet Sunday in this powder-keg city. West Berliners, by the thousands, took their families for a drive along the "Chinese wall," as they refer to the concrete fence cutting through their city.

East Berliners, equally relaxed it seemed, strolled along Stalinallee, the big show avenue the East German Communists built, or enjoyed themselves watching soccer matches and other sports events. Still others went out to the lakes east of the city.

American, British and French troops still patrolled their sector borders with East Berlin. The big guns of U.S. tanks were still pointing across the wall and British scout cars roamed the immediate border area while the French ran mobile patrols along the wall.

But on the other side, most of the Communist armor that had been out for nearly a fortnight seemed gone—or at least hidden from the eyes of Western visitors of East Berlin.

Along the border in the heart of the city, only East German border guards and people's police were on duty with pistols their only weapons.

The big armored riot trucks with mounted water cannons appeared to have been withdrawn but could be brought into action by the East Germans at moment's notice as the Kreuzberg incident proved.

Portugal Issues New Citizen Law

OPORTO, Portugal (AP)—Every native of Portugal's overseas provinces is a full citizen of Portugal as from now. This was announced by Overseas Provinces Minister Adriano Moreira here Monday.

He spoke in the City Stock Exchange Hall, on the invitation of the Associacao Comercial do Porto (Oporto Commercial Association).

It is the most sweeping reform in Portugal's overseas history since she abolished slavery in her African territories in the middle of the last century.

The decree, which will be officially published in a few days' time, repeals the existing native statute. This decree only affects the indigenous inhabitants of the African provinces, since there are no "indigenas" in Goa, Daman and Diu (Portuguese India).

JSP, DSP Will Send Observers to Belgrade

The Japan Socialist Party in a statement issued yesterday hailed the convening of a conference of neutral nations of the world on Friday in Belgrade.

Hiroo Wada, director of the party's International Affairs Bureau, left Tokyo International Airport by KLM last night to attend the conference as the Japan Socialist representative.

The Socialist Party statement said that only neutral diplomacy—a policy of nonalliance, under which a country will neither conclude any military pact with any bloc nor lease its territory as military bases—is the only way to ensure global peace.

Then it termed the conference "an international cooperative move in this right direction."

Meanwhile, the Democratic Socialist Party at its executives meeting yesterday adopted a message of party chairman Suehiro Nishio to be read at the conference by Eiichi Suenaga, its Education and Publicity Bureau chief. Suenaga has already left for Belgrade as the party's delegate to the conference.

The message in effect warns of the danger of the conferring nations trying to form a third bloc to vie for power with the already existing blocs of the East and West and hopes that they will contribute to the elimination of the global crisis of world war III.

K'chev Tells Drew Pearson:

Russia to Back Berlin Freedom

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has told American columnist Drew Pearson the Soviet Union is willing to give a solemn pledge to safeguard the freedom and independence of a free city of West Berlin.

"I should like to know what the Western powers would reply to the following concrete proposal," Khrushchev told Pearson. "Let the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union jointly give a solemn pledge to respect and protect the freedom, independence and rights of the free city of West Berlin."

Pearson interviewed Khrushchev at the Black Sea resort of Sochi last week. Afterward, Khrushchev gave Pearson an English summary of his thinking on the Berlin crisis, and said negotiations should be held without delay. The summary was released in New York by the Bell syndicate.

"Following the signing of a peace treaty with the (East) German Democratic Republic," Khrushchev said, "West Berlin will receive the status of a free city and will be complete master of its destiny. Its people will live under such social and political system as they themselves want to have. We propose to include a clause in the treaty to the effect that no one shall have the right to interfere in the affairs of West Berlin or impose their order on its people.

The Soviet Premier warned anew that Western access rights to Berlin based on occupation status will end upon the signing of a peace treaty between East Germany and the Soviet Union.

"Respect for sovereignty must be observed with regard to all countries, (East) Germany included," Khrushchev said.

"And if certain state and political leaders say: Let the Soviet Union and other countries sign a peace treaty while leaving the Western powers that right of access to West Berlin which stems from occupation status, they are wishing for the impossible. When a peace treaty is signed it is quite natural that rights of conquering powers which stem from surrender of conquered country come to an end."

Khrushchev proposed again that if the Western powers agree to a German peace treaty, token troop units from the West and the Soviet Union would be stationed in the free city of West Berlin "to enforce all necessary guarantees to assure preservation of West Berlin's independence."

"Arguments that they are allegedly fighting to preserve freedom and independence of population of West Berlin are false through and through, since no one is menacing that freedom in independence.

"We are saying: let us sign a peace treaty, let us establish free city status for West Berlin, let us provide it with all necessary guarantees. We are moreover ready ourselves to participate in the exercise of those guarantees. We are also ready to agree to these guarantees being reinforced by the presence in West Berlin of token troops of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union. These should be in small numbers, literally token troops, because no large numbers of armed forces will be necessary there in order to guarantee free city status. In that case, agreement could be reached with the Government of the German Democratic Republic regarding freedom of communication for those military contingents.

"That in effect sums up our position on the German question. That is what we are calling for."

Khrushchev reiterated the Soviet Union's decision to sign a peace treaty, and added:

"You ask when it would be desirable to hold negotiations the answer is that the solution of the question permits no delay. We are therefore ready at any moment to meet with the leaders of the Western powers on this matter if they have a sincere desire to achieve realistic settlement of the German problem on a mutually acceptable basis.

"To this I should add that they no less than we—and perhaps even more so—should be interested in having this problem peacefully solved and if leaders of Western powers, notably President Kennedy, want such settlement we have declared long ago that we are always ready to come to the roundtable for peaceful negotiations."

K'chev Interview Said Aimed at World Opinion

BONN (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's interview with U.S. Columnist Drew Pearson is a psychological weapon obviously aimed at public opinion in the United States and in neutral countries, West German Foreign Office experts said Sunday.

The Bonn Government officially cold-shouldered the Pearson interview. A spokesman said it was a standing policy of the Bonn Government not to comment on Khrushchev's newspaper interviews because they are timed by Khrushchev as psychological warfare.

But Foreign Office experts immediately studied the interview. They said the plan appeared too slick to be meant for negotiating purposes, but was aimed at winning opinion over to the Soviet side.

The German experts said Khrushchev aimed at three targets:

—Removal of Western forces from the outpost city.

—Severance of ties between West Berlin and West Germany.

—De facto recognition of the East German Communist regime.

They felt no Soviet guarantee can be strong enough to make up for the loss of security West Berlin would suffer by removal of the Western forces and severance of ties with West Germany. No one could tell when the Soviets might decide to call the guarantee "obsolete" like the four-power status of the city and Western occupation rights there.

Also, the experts pointed out that Soviet diplomats apparently are already mapping plans going beyond Khrushchev's outline. While Khrushchev assured Pearson that West Berlin should under his plan enjoy all rights of a Sovereign nation, his Soviet Ambassador to Bonn told newsmen all air traffic between West Germany and West Berlin would have to be subjected to East German passport control. This is not customary in international relations. If, for instance, a British aircraft flies from London to Rome through French and Swiss air space, without landing, these two countries exercise no passport control over the passengers at all.

"The whole document is typical of Khrushchev," one West German diplomat said. "First he split Germany, then he said the division of the country was a fact that had to be accepted by all. First he absorbed East Berlin into East Germany, then he said any other solution would be unrealistic."

Sukarno Accepts U.K. Invite for '62

LONDON (AP) — President Sukarno of Indonesia has accepted Queen Elizabeth's invitation to pay a State Visit to London in the second half of 1962, it was officially announced Monday.

Sukarno originally was invited to come to Britain this year.

He turned down the invitation—reportedly because it was for a visit of "official" status only.

This would make him the guest of the British Government but not of the Queen.

As a State Visitor he will stay at Buckingham Palace and receive the fullest red carpet treatment.

posing difficult conditions."

Foreign Office sources said Ikeda's letter was an effective rebuttal of persistent Soviet attacks against the security treaty and that, at the same time, it was an attempt to remind the Kremlin that the biggest factor blocking conclusion of a Japan-Soviet peace treaty is the territorial issue.

This was the first time since the Japan-Soviet joint declaration of 1956 that the Government had officially mentioned a peace treaty to the Soviet Government.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Masayoshi Ohira said, in reference to Ikeda's reply to Khrushchev that he hoped the Soviet leaders would understand what was mentioned in the reply.

Ohira also hoped the Soviets would cooperate with the Japanese Government in solving pending problems between the two countries and normalizing relations between the two nations.

Laborer Arrested For Fatal Knifing

TOKAMACHI, Niigata Prefecture (Kyodo)—Police yesterday arrested a day laborer who allegedly stabbed a man to death in a trifling quarrel here Sunday night.

Police said Masanori Nishikawa, 24, knifed Hiroshi Sugawara, 25, in an argument over a pro baseball nighter between the Yomiuri Giants and the Hiroshima Carp, which the two had been watching on television at the inn where they were staying.

The two were residents of Tokyo's Sanya slum district and came here Sunday to work on the construction of an electric power plant at nearby Tsunami.

JAL Plane Fire Out by Landing

SAPPORO (Kyodo)—One of the engines of a Sapporo-bound Japan Air Lines plane suddenly caught fire as it was passing over Tomakomai, but the fire died out just as the plane was about to land at Chitose Airport yesterday morning.

All 43 passengers aboard were safe.

Flames shot out from the left wing's second engine of the DC7 City of San Francisco and burned for about six minutes before they died out.

Self-Defense Force fire trucks and ambulances rushed to Chitose Airport in anticipation of a disaster.

The Sapporo aeronautics safety office said the fire was caused by leaking oil.

fusion Research Laboratory at Minato Ward, Tokyo, yesterday afternoon. Each gave 200 cubic centimeters for a total of 2,800 cubic centimeters.

An additional 3,750 cubic centimeters of blood, drawn from 12 U.S. Security Forces personnel stationed in the Tokyo area, was handed to the laboratory later in the afternoon. In addition, 800 cubic centimeters of AB Rh negative blood was flown from Osaka by air yesterday bringing the total to 7,350 cubic centimeters, just enough for the operation.

The blood was needed for pumping into little Eisuke's body through an artificial heart while his heart was being operated upon.

A nationwide campaign in search of the rare type of blood was launched last Wednesday after the boy's father appealed to the Health Office of the Metropolitan Government for help. It came to a successful conclusion after the U.S. forces personnel offered more than half of the needed blood through the American Red Cross.

The boy's AB type Rh negative blood is found in one out of every 180 Caucasians but only one in every 2,000 Japanese.

A blood hunt for another rare type—B type Rh negative—for Keiko Hatano, 13-year-old Niigata girl also came to a happy ending, again thanks to the offer from U.S. personnel.

Her heart operation is scheduled for Friday at the same hospital.

50 Arrested In N.C. Town Race Riot

MONROE, N.C. (UPI)—Police late Sunday night arrested 17-year-old Negro Albert Rorie at his home on identity given officers by policeman J. W. Rushing, who was shot in the leg when violence broke out as he attempted to stop 20-year-old Constance Lever of Durham, England, from leaving with the Negroes.

Police Chief A. A. Mauney said that the Negroes earlier Sunday night had temporarily held a white couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stegal of nearby Marshville.

However, Mauney said the couple was released unharmed, and that his office was continuing an investigation into the alleged kidnaping.

A crowd of 1,000 screaming, jeering white persons had gathered at the Union County Courthouse here Sunday afternoon and the crowd grew as dark came. By 11 p.m. many of the people had gone home but others clustered in groups around the town well into the morning hours.

Miss Lever and more than 50 other persons were jailed in the aftermath of the riot and police continued to arrest persons on the streets during the night.

Early in the night Mayor Fred Wilson wired Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy seeking "advice" on a "solution" to the problem.

Gail Russell, 36, Found Dead in Apt.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gail Russell, the actress, was found dead Saturday night in her West Los Angeles apartment. Her death was apparently from natural causes, the police said.

The body of the 36-year-old former wife of Guy Madison, the actor, was found by two women neighbors who told the police they had not seen her for several days.

The police said there was an empty vodka bottle near the body and several other empty vodka bottles in the kitchen and bedroom.

Miss Russell, named in 1947 as a critics' selection for "Star of Tomorrow," had a record of several arrests for drunken driving in the past eight years.

Her recent pictures included "Lady in the Dark," "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," "The Virginian," "El Paso" and "Song of India."

Plane Hits Dept. Store; Pilot Killed, 30 Injured

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP) —A plane, reported to be a U.S. Navy FJ3 trainer, smashed into a big department store Sunday, injuring 30 to 35 people, police and hospital authorities said.

The pilot was killed. He was identified as Lt. Cmdr. Robert Haven, 36, of Columbus, Ohio.

At Abington Hospital, a newsman was told that at least 30 had been brought in for emergency treatment, none apparently critically hurt.

Parts of the store—"Bargain City USA"—caught fire.

Police were told that at least 75 persons were in the store, which was open on Sunday to sell essential merchandise allowed under the state law. Sales of non-essentials are banned.

The store is a single story, block-long building situated just across the street from the U.S. Naval Air Station.

The FJ3 trainer was coming in for a landing on the main strip. The store is less than a mile from the actual landing field.

The base spokesman said the single-seater had been on a routine flight and that the pilot was on a regular weekend drill.

The plane crashed into the center section of the roof, taking out a T-shape section.

A mammoth traffic jam developed in all directions, hampering the efforts of police and others.

Meet Canceled by Picketing Teachers

FUKUOKA (Kyodo)—A Board of Education meeting, which was scheduled here for two days starting yesterday, was canceled as members of the Japan Teachers Union Fukuoka chapter picketed the entrance to the meeting hall.

The Fukuoka Prefectural Board of Education had called a meeting to explain the nature of the nationwide scholastic attainments test to members of the local Boards of Education in the prefecture.

The Japan Teachers Union had been opposing the test to be given to junior and senior students of junior high schools throughout the nation by the Education Ministry.

About 350 teachers yesterday picketed the Kyushoku Kaikan Hall.

The Prefectural Board of Education said, however, it will get in touch with members of the local Boards of Education by telephone to explain the test and give the nationwide examination to junior high school students as scheduled.

World famous British potter, Bernard Leach, arrived in Tokyo last night aboard a Japan Air Lines jetliner over the North Pole from London for a two-month visit to Japan.

The Hongkong-born 74-year-old internationally-known potter was met by a large group of Japanese friends at the airport, including leading Japanese potters and members of the Mingei Association (Folk Art Association).

He spent his boyhood in Japan, and lived here again from 1909 to 1920 and speaks fluent Japanese.

He was among the first to introduce Japanese pottery art to the Western world and greatly influenced potters all over the world with his Oriental motifs.

Boy, 4, Survives 5 Days In Forest Without Food

A 4-year-old boy was returned to safety Saturday from a primeval forest in Nara Prefecture where he had roamed five days without food.

Doctors said it was a miracle that little Kazutoshi Wada was found alive.

Kazutoshi got lost Aug. 21, when his father took him and his 7-year-old brother Nobuyuki fishing in the mountains.

His father Kunio Wada, 36, is a forest worker in the village of Kamikitayama in Yoshino, Nara Prefecture.

Wada left the little boy on the river bank and went searching for a better fishing spot upstream. He told the youngster to "stay where you are until we come back."

Wada returned about an hour and 10 minutes later, to find the boy missing.

A rescue party combed the area every day without any result.

The search was on the point of being abandoned when a moving white object was spotted in a hole in a big tree.

The white object was Kazutoshi, exhausted from the five-day ordeal but surprisingly fit.

He was rushed to a clinic, where he was checked and fed liquids—the first food he tasted in five days. He had lived exclusively on water.

Doctors were surprised at his survival. The average boy of his age would have cried himself to death, they said.

Four-year-old Kazutoshi Wada reposes safely in the arms of his mother, Yoshie, after spending five days in a virgin forest in Nara Prefecture without food.

Brought up in the mountains, Kazutoshi said "I wasn't scared."

He didn't feel lonely, he said, because "I knew I could return home."

Lunar Law Is Proposed by Local Savant

A Tokyo professor specializing in the study of international law concerning space yesterday put forth a proposal to internationalize the moon to forestall any attempt to occupy the moon and turn it into a territory of a particular nation.

The proposal was made by Fukio Ikeda, professor at Senshu University, Tokyo, before the third international symposium on rocketry and cosmic aviation as it was opened at the Japan Toshi Center in Tokyo.

Ikeda emphasized before the symposium audience that now that a "soft-landing" of a manned space vehicle on the moon seems "imminent" after the Soviet manned satellite flight by Maj. Gherman Titov, the longer the enactment of an international law to internationalize and demilitarize the moon is postponed, "the more difficult it will be to make the moon the common property of the international community."

Legally speaking, the moon and all planets around the earth are "ownerless objects" which can become the possession of the first nation to effectively control it, he said. There is the possibility of a repeat of the old struggles for colonies on the earth taking place on the moon between the U.S. and Soviet Union, he warned.

A new development at this year's symposium is the creation of a committee to study the "dependability of rockets," in which reports will be submitted on how to produce rockets with a minimum of experiments.

Mother Axes Kids, Attempts Suicide

KOMORO, Nagano Prefecture (Kyodo)—A mother hacked her three children with an ax and tried to commit suicide by taking sleeping pills early yesterday morning.

Mrs. Yuhachi Fukaya, 39, wife of a tin plate worker, was expected to pull through but one of the children died and the two others were in critical condition.

The children were asleep when their mother attacked them in a fit of hysteria.

Fukaya told police he was also asleep at the time.

The incident occurred about 1 a.m. yesterday at Fukaya's home near here.

Mrs. Fukaya and her three children were immediately taken to a Red Cross hospital here. Shujiro, 5, died soon afterward, while Hiroko, 13, and Eiichi, 10, were in a critical condition.

Police said there were "some complicated family circumstances."

U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer speaks at a reception celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Fulbright Program at Tokyo Kaikan yesterday.

Man Confesses to 50 Crimes, Including Three Murders

A 29-year-old tramp with one previous conviction told Yodobashi police in Tokyo yesterday that he was responsible for as many as 50 crimes including three murders.

Kazuo Kajita had been under investigation since he was arrested as a larceny suspect Jan. 31.

Kajita said he killed a 65-year-old jobless person of Sendagaya, Shibuya Ward, Tokyo on the night of Oct. 9 in 1957 by pushing him off the platform of Ikebukuro Station into the path of an oncoming electric train. The case had been dismissed in the belief that the incident was accidental or suicidal in nature.

A war-repatriate from Korea, Kajita returned to his home in Ehime Prefecture and studied at Waseda University for one year in 1952.

The list of crimes which he allegedly committed also includes one case of attempted arson, two of intimidation, six of swindling, and 35 of larceny. Police said Kajita also confessed to having murdered two more persons, one in Kyushu in December 1950 and the other near Tokyo in June 1958.

Ministry's Training Ships Return Home

The Japanese training ships, which won first and second places in an international sailing boat race held last month between Los Angeles and Honolulu, returned to Tokyo yesterday.

They are the Nippon Maru and the Kaio Maru, both 2,300 tons. They belong to the Transportation Ministry.

The international sailing boat race, which started July 4, was participated in by more than 40 boats from Britain, the Netherlands and other nations.

Mizusawa Getting Polar Motion Work

Japan's bid for creation of an international polar motion service at Mizusawa in Iwate Prefecture, northern Japan, was recently approved at the 11th meeting of the International Astronomical Union in Berkeley, Calif.

A cable to this effect was received yesterday by Dr. Tadahiko Hattori, chief researcher at the Education Ministry's Mizusawa Latitude Observatory, who represented Japan at the IAU meeting.

The Mizusawa observatory, which has been engaged in latitude observation for the past 60 years, is one of the sixth such observatories in the world.

The IPMS is charged with the function of collecting latitude data from these observatories for publication.

JSP Will Dispatch Group to Peiping

The Socialist Central Executive Committee yesterday reconfirmed its decision made earlier to send the third Socialist mission to Communist China at "an appropriate time" this fall after the extraordinary session of the Diet is over.

The committee's action reflected the opinions of Chairman Jotaro Kawakami and other Socialist leaders who said it would be better to send the mission after the outcome of the problem of seating Communist China in the United Nations is determined in the U.N. General Assembly meeting scheduled this fall. The Socialist leaders are also of the opinion that it would not be desirous to send a large number of Socialist Diet members to Communist China while the Diet is in session.

Reischauer Pays Tribute To Fulbright Program

U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer praised the Fulbright program yesterday as having been an important element in building mutual understanding between Japan and the United States during the last decade.

The ambassador paid tribute to the program at a dinner held at Tokyo Kaikan to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the Fulbright Educational Exchange Program in Japan.

The dinner was attended by about 500 people, including returned Japanese Fulbright grantees and American Fulbrighters now teaching or doing research here. Also present were Foreign Minister Zentaro Kosaka, and Education Minister Masuo Araki.

Reischauer, himself a scholar before taking up his present post last April, said he felt there had been great over-all progress in mutual understanding between the two countries and the rate of progress "seems to be accelerating."

"Obviously the Fulbright Program has not been the only reason for this acceleration," he said, "but it has certainly been an important element."

"In fact, I would venture the guess that it, together with similar forms of scholarly, educational and cultural exchange, constitute the most important reason for the advance we have made during the past decade in coming to understand each other and thus developing the capacity for a fruitful and mutually stimulating partnership."

He also noted the fact that the participants in the 10-year-old exchange program have been "people of learning and people with ideas."

"The knowledge that has been exchanged has been significant knowledge that spread far beyond individual participants themselves," he said.

Reischauer said it was gratifying that both the Japanese and American governments realized the value and importance of the program and were doing their part to extend it further than the present term, which is to expire in a few years.

Fuji Farmers Protest Firing

A group of farmers from the East Fuji area in Shizuoka Prefecture yesterday visited the Defence Agency and Procurement Agency to protest the planned firing practice by the U.S. Marines on the Fuji range.

Representatives of the 150 farmers met leaders of the two agencies and handed a written demand to each of them.

They wanted the East Fuji training grounds back, which they insisted were part of their farm and they also wanted the local state-owned Minamiyama forest to be returned.

They further demanded that Government authorities repair the roads inside and outside the Fuji training grounds.

Meanwhile, another group of farmers from North Fuji will start talks with the Government on the release of the North Fuji training grounds.

The U.S. Marines are scheduled to start shooting practice at the foot of Mt. Fuji early next month.

10 Children Die In Car Accident

AOMORI (Kyodo) — Ten primary school pupils and the driver of a dump car were killed instantly, and two pupils were seriously injured, when their car fell some three meters off a cliff in Wakinosawa village, Aomori Prefecture yesterday.

The dump car, owned by a construction company, was carrying 15 pupils. The accident happened when one of the wheels of the truck was caught by a big hole in the road and the vehicle lost control, police investigation revealed.

3 Killed as Truck Hits Outing Group

A forwarding company truck rammed into a group of some 60 children and their mothers on an excursion yesterday on a highway in the suburbs of Tokyo, instantly killing three of them and seriously injuring another three.

The accident occured at around 3 p.m. on the Takahata Highway near Hino, northwest of Tokyo, when the driver, Torio Kashiwadani, 21 of the Watanabe Forwarding Co. Fuchu, losing his control of the vehicle, mowed down the victims under the truck. The vehicle then bumped against the concrete wall of a nearby shop.

Teruko Shinohara, 8 and Hiroko Harada, 4, both of the Nishi-Hatchobori Children Friendship Group, Chuo Ward, Tokyo, and Hiroko's mother Kane, 38 were instantly killed.

Another child sustained serious injuries and another was slightly hurt. A 62-year-old woman was also seriously injured.

Police suspect that the truck skidded as the area had a shower shortly before the accident.

24 Injured as Bus Falls Off Highway

FUKUSHIMA (Kyodo)—Twenty-nine persons were injured, four seriously, when their bus fell off a highway in Iizaka, Fukushima Prefecture, yesterday morning.

The seriously injured were three passengers and a conductor of a sight-seeing bus belonging to the Yamagata Transportation Co., Yonezawa Office.

The accident occurred while 34 members of an agricultural organization from Kawanishi, Yamagata Prefecture, were making a sight-seeing trip to the Bandai Azuma Skyline.

From Tori to Torie

By TORIE

Dear Readers:

In the event no one has noticed the change of spelling in my name from "Tori" to "Torie," I have done so on the advice of a famed numerologist Dr. Shastri who is at present visiting and lecturing in Japan and who hails from Lucknow, India. Dr. Shastri, whom I had the great pleasure of meeting advised me that if I added an "e" to my so-called pruname I would fare better since it "adds" up to the number of my birth date.

Dr. Shastri has an extremely brilliant mind and is highly educated in the art of astrology and numerology.

Anyone interested in seeing him may do so by contacting him at the Dai-Ichi Hotel in Tokyo.

Torie

Dear Torie:

In your Aug. 11 column for the person who inquired and initialed "H.B."

I wish to tell her that I know of a lady who knits sweaters and dresses too. She will certainly be glad to receive orders. This is her name, etc.

Mrs. H. Masutani, 93, Imazato-cho, Minato-ku, Tokyo. Tel: 441-7558.

Martha Oyama

Dear Torie:

A delicious warm drink called Almond Tea is served at Chinese restaurants. I wonder if you can get me the recipe.

Hermann

Dear Hermann:

This is the recipe I got from China House. To 1 c. of milk add ½ c. of hot water. Dissolve about 2 ts. of cornstarch in cold water, stir into the milk. Add syrup to taste made from "konzato" (crystal sugar) or if this is unavailable, corn syrup or plain sugar will do, and the juice from almonds or almond extract. Bring to gentle boil and serve.

KARUIZAWA—More than 400 guests attended the gala benefit ball held at the Mampei Hotel Saturday night under the sponsorship of the Karuizawa-Kai Association with the support of The Japan Times. Thanks to the careful preparations made by the committee and the cooperation of the guests and staff members of the hotel the event was a great success.

The benefit ball has become one of leading summer social events in Karuizawa since it was first sponsored by The Japan Times in 1955. A spacious tent was put up in the garden lighted with colorful Japanese lanterns and tables and chairs were arranged outdoors. Thus a wider space in the dining hall was turned into a ball room for dancing. Several refreshment stands were arranged in the garden, and among them the 'sushi' stand was popular among the guests.

Mental Patients

CHICAGO (UPI) — An American Bar Foundation report warned that "at the present rate of hospitalization, one out of every 12 citizens will probably spend a portion of his life in a mental institution."

The report, five years in preparation, will be published by the University of Chicago Press in a book entitled "The Mentally Disabled and the Law."

It was edited by Frank T. Lindman, research attorney of the American Bar Foundation, and Donald M. McIntyre Jr., an assistant administrator, at the ABF.

Lindman and McIntyre said estimates of total costs in providing for the mentally ill and the economic losses resulting from such disabilities amount to $3,000 million a year.

Japan Grabs Lead In Swimming at Sofia

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—In the 100 meters freestyle for men in the world university games Sunday when Keigo Shimizu finished first with a time of 57, a close second was Andrze Salamon, Poland, in 57.6.

Other placings: 3. Kiyosho Fukui, Japan, 57.9, 4. Bernard Ajuchna, Poland, 58.3, 5. A. Dimjati, Indonesia, 58.4, 6. Valerie Efremov, Russia, 58.7.

The victory gave Japan four gold medals in the games.

Italy Cops 2nd Bike Title; Japanese Rider Eliminated

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Antonio Maspes of Italy won the professional world sprint cycling championship for the fifth time Sunday night.

He defeated Michel Rousseau of France in two straight legs in the final at Zurich's Oerlikon Stadium.

In the second race, Maspes equaled his own world record of 10.8 seconds over the last 200 meters. His speed was 66.06 kilometers per hour.

Joseph de Bakker of Belgium took third place for the second straight year, defeating Oscar Plattner of Switzerland in a decider after each man had won one race.

Maspes' victory came at the end of another day of blazing sunshine. It was Italy's second triumph in the championships. Saturday night, Sergio Bianchetto won the amateur sprint title in an all-Italian final with Giuseppe Beghetto.

Japan's hope in the world cycling championships received another blow with the defeat of Yasumitsu Nakano in the professional pursuit event.

He was paired with Tom Simpson in the preliminary heats. Simpson eliminated the Japanese by catching him on the penultimate lap in the 15-lap race in Zurich Oerlikon Stadium.

One by one, Japan's riders have failed since the championships opened here Friday. But Japanese officials are not downhearted.

The Mexicans, third seeded, stopped second-seeded McKinley and Ralston in four sets last weekend in interzone Davis Cup competition at Cleveland. Jackson, 5-foot-5, 135-pound captain of the United States team, zoomed around 46 buoys at speeds up to 37½ miles an hour. This was one more buoy than the mark set at Milan, Italy, by Chuck Stearns, U.S. defending men's overall champion.

Muller won in tricks against 53 contestants from 19 nations only after judges reviewed movies of the event. It was run Saturday but the judges refused to announce results until Sunday after studying the films.

Hebert Edges Player For First Money In Links Playoff

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jay Hebert birdied the second hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday to defeat Gary Player and win the $50,000 American Golf Classic after sinking a 20-foot birdie putt on the 18th green to bring on the playoff.

After losing a five-stroke lead with nine holes to play, Hebert scrambled to a par four on the first hole of the playoff and finally ended the tournament on the 500-yard, par 5 No. 2.

The victory was worth $9,000 for Hebert, who had a 35-38—73 and a 72-hole total of 278—two under par.

Player, the South Africa star who made three birdies on the back nine to offset Hebert's tremendous lead, missed an eight-foot birdie putt on the final playoff hole and had to settle for second place and $4,600 to boost his earnings over $60,000 for the year.

Player nearly ended the match on the first extra hole. Hebert's drive landed in a sand trap and his second shot was a few feet short of the green, while Player reached within 15 feet after his second shot. Hebert chipped within two feet and made his par. Player missed his putt by inches.

On the final hole Hebert reached with two woods and missed an eagle putt by inches. Player was short in two and put his third shot within range but his birdie attempt failed when his ball broke away from the cup.

With nine holes left to play, Hebert held a commanding five-stroke lead over Player. Then came the action. Player picked up two strokes when he parred the 11th while Hebert was taking a double bogey six. Player birdied the 12th with a deuce, picking up another stroke, but he bogied the 13th and fell three behind. A birdie two on the 15th brought him within range.

On the par-five, 625-yard 16th, Hebert lost his lead. He faded his drive and was in the rough after his second shot. The third went into the water and when he finally got on and two putted, he had a double bogey seven.

Player, meanwhile, was on in three and dropped a 12-footer for a birdie and a one stroke lead. They both parred the 17th with fours. Both were on in regulation on the par four 18th. Player putted for a birdie from five feet and missed by inches. He holed out for his par. Hebert gracefully stepped up and dropped a 20-foot pressure putt, forcing a playoff.

Ex-Champ Shirai Calls Medel 'Real Ring Fighter'

By DON SAWATO
AP Sports Editor for Tokyo

Former world flyweight boxing champion Yoshio Shirai yesterday watched Mexico's national champion Jose Medel whip through a fast workout for his Aug. 31 nontitle battle and said "he's dynamite . . . and a real ring fighter."

Medel is training here for his 10-round scrap with Japan's world No. 5 ranking flyweight Mitsunori Seki at Korakuen Ice Palace Thursday. Seki had difficulty making the flyweight limit in his unsuccessful crack at Thailand's Pone Kingpetch's world flyweight crown last June. He has since decided to move up to the bantamweight division.

Shirai thought Medel was already in top shape for his fight with Seki.

The slim mustachioed Mexican pounded a local sparmate two rounds and then went two more rounds of shadow boxing and rope skipping.

Shirai said he was greatly impressed with Medel's fast footwork and timing.

"He got the aggressiveness of a winner," said Shirai.

Shirai, however, wouldn't predict a victory for Medel despite his high praises.

"I don't know who'll win," he said. "But I know it will be a good fight."

In yesterday's workout for the local press Lupe Sanchez, Medal's manager, kept Medel from unleashing any crowd pleasing punches or punishing body blows.

Sanchez said Medel will loosen up at the Korakuen Gym where he is training daily at 2 p.m. He will rest tomorrow.

Johnson Pick Over Eddie Cotton

SEATTLE (AP)—Smart bettors will stick with the champion, Philadelphia's Harold Johnson, in his second defense of the National Boxing Association light-heavyweight crown in an outdoor 15-rounder here Tuesday night.

Johnson rules a 2-1 choice over sentimental favorite Eddie Cotton of Seattle, finally getting a title shot after long and frustrating years in the ring wars.

Both are veterans who have slogged along a rocky ring road to possible riches.

But the pot of gold lies ahead for only the winner—a probable meeting with venerable Archie Moore for the undisputed 175-pound crown.

Probable, that is, if terms can be arranged with Moore, who invariably starts dickering in the swank neighborhood of $250,000. George Chemeres of Seattle, promoter of the Johnson-Cotton fight, has offered Moore a flat $75,000 to meet the winner.

Johnson, unbeaten in his last 15 bouts and 66-8 for his 15-year ring career, won the National Boxing Association light-heavyweight championship Feb. 7 in an elimination fight with Jessie Bowdry of St. Louis after the NBA had stripped Moore of the title.

That left Johnson the champ of 47 states. Moore is recognized in California, Massachusetts, New York and Europe.

In his only previous crack at the crown Johnson was kayoed by Moore in the 14th round in 1954. He hasn't lost since 1955.

The 33-year-old Philadelphian scored a second round TKO over fellow-townsman Von Clay in his first title defense April 24 and took a 10-round decision over heavyweight Eddie Machen of Portland July 1 in a nontitle affair.

Japan Captures Far West Swim Tournament Title

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Japan captured the men's team title in the Far West swimming and diving championships with 110 points, highest squad score in the history of the 25-year-old meet.

The meet ended Sunday.

Palo Alto-Los Altos, Calif., Swim Club won the women's team title with 61 points.

Hawaii won the boys' junior or age group title on 72 points and the Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club took the girls' title with 61 points.

Three records were beaten and one tied in the finals Sunday.

Linda Kurtz, unattached, of Redding, Calif., won the women's 200-meter breaststroke in 3:05.5, which bettered the National AAU junior national championship mark of 3:08.2 set in 1960 by Alice Driscoll.

In the men's 200-meter breaststroke Kenjiro Matsumoto and Kenju Ishikawa, both of Japan, were timed in 2:41.5 and 2:41.4, respectively, each bettering the Pacific Association record of 2:44.7 set by Ronald Clark in 1958. Matsumoto was given first place in the event, however, on a judges' decision. Koichi Yamanami of Japan was third. Jim Perry of the Berkeley, Calif., Radiation Laboratory was fourth. Blair Braun of the Hawaii Swim Club was fifth and Drake Grega of the Alameda, Calif., Swim Club was sixth.

Alan Somers of the Indianapolis Swim Club won the men's 400-meter freestyle in 4:30.4, shading the Pacific Association record of 4:30.6 he established in 1959.

Other winners:

Men's 100-meter freestyle—Tsuyoshi Yamanaka, Japan, 158.2.

Women's 100-meter butterfly—Chris Grandi, 1:14.1.

Men's 100-meter back stroke—Nelson Shibasaki, Hawaii Swim Club, 1:05.5.

Tigers Gain; Reds Up Lead By Taking 2

NEW YORK (AP)—Detroit's relentless Tigers moved to within two games of the American League-leading New York Yankees with a 7-4, 10-1 sweep of a doubleheader from Washington and Cincinnati widened its National League lead over Los Angeles with a 6-5, 8-3 doubleheader sweep of the Dodgers Sunday.

The Tigers gained a half game on the Yankees, who edged out the Kansas City Athletics 8-7. Rocky Colavito was Detroit's big gun, hitting four home runs, three in the second game. He drove in seven runs.

St. Louis shut out San Francisco 6-0 for its seventh straight triumph and 12th in succession at home. Larry Jackson allowed the Giants three hits for his eighth straight triumph over the Californians.

Milwaukee split with Philadelphia. After the Braves had won the opener 11-10 in 12 innings, the Phils' Art Mahaffey blanked them 3-0 in the nightcap. Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 7-3 in the opener of their twin bill, the Cubs taking the second 6-5.

The Chicago White Sox beat Cleveland twice 10-6 and 9-3. Baltimore shut out Minnesota 3-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Milt Pappas and Los Angeles defeated Boston 8-3.

Don Mossi and Paul Foytack pitched the Tiger victories. Mossi needed help in the ninth of the opener to register his 14th triumph in 17 decisions. Foytack breezed to his ninth victory.

Whitey Ford gained his 22nd victory for the Yankees but lasted only 3ve innings. A three-run homer by Yogi Berra and another four-bagger by Elston Howard gave him a good cushion but it took the combined relief help of Roland Sheldon and Luis Arroyo to preserve his victory. Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris went homeless.

Chicago pounded 21 hits, including second game home runs by Al Smith and Roy Sievers. The White Sox shelled Cleveland starter Jim Grant with a six-run barrage in the sixth inning of the opener. Floyd Robinson cleared the bases with a triple. They had another decisive inning in the nightcap, clubbing Barry Latman for four runs in the seventh.

Pappas of Baltimore not only blanked the twins with two hits but smashed two home runs as he pitched his 10th victory. Eli Grba won his eighth decision as the Angels took undisputed possession of seventh place in the American League. Rocky Bridges had three hits for the winners.

A standing room crowd of 30,195 saw the Reds rally from a 5-1 deficit with three runs in the seventh and two more in the eighth to nip the Dodgers in the opener. Gene Freese homered with two on in the seventh. Pinch-hitter Wally Post doubled home the winning run in the eighth. Vada Pinson's two-run homer got the Reds away in front in the nightcap as Ken Johnson won his fifth in seven decisions. Don Drysdale was the loser.

Ken Boyer's three-run homer off Juan Marichal was the big blow for the Cards, who made it three in a row over the Giants. Mahaffey limited the Braves to six hits for his second straight shutout after losing 10 straight. Sammy White's first extra base hit in the National League, a 12th inning double, scored Frank Thomas with the winning run for Milwaukee in the opener.

Sato Opposes Any Increase In Bank Rate

International Trade and Industry Minister Eisaku Sato told reporters yesterday that he was against raising the discount rate of the Bank of Japan.

Opinion is gaining ground in some segments of the Government that the official money rate of the central bank should be boosted again as a means of regulating the booming national economy.

Sato believed that such action would adversely affect the national economy in many ways. He said that Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda shared the same view.

Sato was interviewed by newsmen on a train carrying him to the Nagoya and Osaka districts. He was due to hold a series of meetings with economic leaders there for the first time since taking office last July.

The Government, he said, would ask for the United States' consideration in regard to increasing Japanese exports to that country at a meeting of the Japan-U.S. Joint Committee on Trade and Economic Affairs, scheduled to be held in Japan this autumn.

He said the latest increase in Japan's imports from the United States over exports was a major factor in the deterioration of the nation's international balance of payments.

The minister, pointing out that Japanese imports from the U.S. totaled $1,018 million and were more than double the exports to that country of $451 million during the January-June period, emphasized the necessity of adjusting the lop-sided trade position.

Sato then said that naturally, an increase in the marketing from this end to the U.S. constituted the fundamental Japanese attitude at the Japan-U.S. textile conference now opening in Tokyo.

Also for export promotion, he suggested an early launching of movements similar to "Buy American" and "Ship American."

Sato disclosed at the same time that he was considering a reduction in the country's import budget for the second half of the current years as a means of restricting imports.

Referring to future trade with Communist nations, Sato said that in consequence of Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan's visit here, Russo-Japanese trade was expected to make great strides.

He said if the Peiping authorities likewise took a flexible stand a marked increase could be expected in Sino-Japanese trade.

F.E. Tourism Said Expanding Rapidly

Robert J. Wright, vice president-sales of Northwest Airlines, said the potentiality of tourism into and from the Far East was growing while the number of trans-Atlantic tourists has been on a decline lately.

He told a press conference at Tokyo's Nikkatsu International Hotel yesterday that 77 per cent of NWA's additional passengers this year were registered between the United States and Japan.

Wright

Wright who arrived here Sunday on the first leg of his Asian inspection tour said the most significant change in the NWA flight setup in its latest development program was the conversion of four DC7C planes to DC7F to resume trans-Pacific operation. Wright said the four converted DC7F planes were due within coming weeks and would go into operation sometime in late September or early October at the latest.

"Domestically," he said, "we have purchased seven Boeing 720B planes, the newest and fastest jet planes, and leased two."

He added that the addition of these nine 720B planes would provide the fastest service from Tokyo to the U.S. East Coast possibly from this December on.

He also said: "We are hoping to be operating to Hongkong in the near future to amplify NWA network in the Far East."

He said other development programs included establishment of NWA offices in South America, the first one possibly in Lima with a view to future development of tourism between Japan and Latin American countries. He said there were some 7,000 passengers travelling between South America and Japan every year.

Wright is scheduled to visit Osaka today and leave for Manila via Okinawa Thursday.

U.S. Cotton Imports

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. imports of cotton for consumption in the first 11 months of the 1960-61 season totaled 137,000 bales, slightly more than the 135,000 bales for the same period of the previous season. The Agriculture Department, in announcing the import figures Monday, said the principal sources of imports were Egypt, 68,000 bales, Mexico, 37,000, Peru, 17,000, Pakistan, 6,000, India, 3,000 and Burma, 3,000.

Vietnam Situation Makes Business Very Difficult

By JOSEPH Z. REDAY

This is Saigon again, where things do not look very good to me. I hear a lot of brave comment in the press to the effect that we are now on the offensive against the Communist terror in Vietnam. I also hear of large government successes in fighting the Viet Cong; one took place last week in which several hundred Communists were reported killed, so did another a few weeks before. I think that these reports can be misleading. Not that I doubt the military sucess; I just question that it indicates that we are winning anything.

Doubtless the Vietnam military are having successes against the Communist guerrillas. The Vietnamese are good soldiers and are perfectly willing to fight, unlike the neighboring Cambodians and Laotians who fear the Vietnamese as much as they do the Reds. President Ngo is a fully determined anti-Communist who commits his country's whole strength against them.

The trouble in Vietnam is in finding the enemy and fighting him to a finish. A guerrilla force devoted to murder and pillage is almost impossible to root out by any democratic means, or by fighting a stand up war against them no matter how determined or brave the military. The encouraging fact that the Vietnam army was able to meet and crush forces of about 500 guerrillas near Saigon and on the Plain of Reeds in the past few weeks is outweighed by the alarming fact that that many guerrillas could get that deep into Vietnam and could operate openly enough to get caught in such numbers.

In my own experience I judge a deterioration of the situation by the fact that when I was here a few months ago, I drove seven or eight kilometers out of Saigon one night before being chased back for safety's sake. This time, neither I nor anyone else in his right mind would willingly drive out of the city after dark at all. One of my customers a few weeks ago had a couple of flat tires driving back from Dalat 200 kilometers away and did not arrive in Saigon until late in the evening. By that time his family had about given him up for lost and the police and military had been alerted. As many Vietnamese are pointing out, the situation is somewhat like that which faced the French in the days before Dien Bien Phu when they controlled the big towns and the roads during the day, but nothing else.

Isolated Economy

The guerrilla terror is choking Vietnam down to a set of isolated town economies, and Vietnam does not have the kind of national economy that can survive that way. In terms of production, the isolated rubber and other plantations are almost at the mercy of the Viet Cong who can and do kill off the managers and workers and burn down the property — unless they can collect tribute for not doing it. The same thing is true of most rest of the country's rich agriculture.

Vietnam's small manufacturing industry is having its markets squeezed down in the same way. Where a plastics molder in Saigon might have formerly turned out something like 10,000 toothbrushes or ball point pens a week for sale all around the country, his market now in all too many cases has narrowed down to Saigon and a few other big towns. It is too hard to merchandise anything in the little villages throughout the country, too hard to get stocks distributed, too hard to keep them in the small shops, and too hard to collect money and to hold it safely. Furthermore, the average villagers is no longer in the market for much of anything beyond bare essentials anyway. If he has anything extra the Viet Cong will take it away from him at night. The Government can protect him during the day, but cannot get back what the Viet Cong takes at night whether it is a ball point pen or a daughter or a pig.

Agrovilles

Also written up encouragingly in the press are the silly so-called "agrovilles," newly built and more or less walled and defended villages where the country people are supposed to huddle in safety at night after working in their exposed fields during the day. These things can never work and the American Government should stop promoting the idea. A country cannot exist in a set of concentration camps every night. The Vietnamese reject that kind of living, and the whole idea is a defeatist, defensive measure at best. A whole nation cannot be expected to go on very long living defensively in its own country.

I have been harping on the idea for a long while, but the only way to restore Vietnam to a state of viability and to keep it from eventually falling to the Communists from sheer nervous exhaustion is to counter their terror with our own form of it. The Viet Cong Communists come from the Vietminh northern half of the country; so do their supplies, munitions, orders and everything else. They will continue to terrorize Vietnam until our side begins to carry some revolution into the Communist north. I have seen press reports that we are doing so, but I can see no verification of it, and I doubt that it would be much of a secret if we were doing anything effective. The Communists would howl to high heaven about it, for one thing.

Another only half tongue in cheek solution to the whole problem of Southeast Asia would be to bring back the National Chinese irregular troops that formerly moved around in the area near the Red China, Burma and Thai borders. For about 10 years they lived off the land in half organized forces up to perhaps 20,000 men, probing into whatever soft spot appeared to offer opportunity. It was a little rough on Thailand and Burma, but no tougher than having the Communist countries for neighbors which is what seems to be happening now. My own guess is that the so-called Kuomintang troops had more to do with keeping the peace in the area than all the commissions and international agreements and advisory groups. They were tough and mobile and the Communists did not dare take on many new or far-reaching adventures as long as these guerrillas were about and ready to take advantage of anyone's preoccupation elsewhere. We pressured Chiang in Taiwan to get most of them out. I personally would feel better if they were back in the area; Laos would be an ideal place.

By TAKEHIKO ODA

Reflecting an increasing demand for larger tankers and ore carriers, the nation's leading shipbuilders have come out almost simultaneously with plans for building mammoth docks. Plans to build docks ranging in capacity from 80,000 to 10,0000 tons are being blueprinted.

The Mitsui Shipbuilding Co. has already started the construction of a 85,000-ton building dock and a 60,000-ton dry dock in Chiba Prefecture. The docks are scheduled to be completed in March next year and October 1964, respectively. This will be followed by the Hitachi Shipbuilding Co. which plans to install a building dock in Sakai, Osaka Prefecture. This dock having a capacity somewhere between 80,000 to 100,000 tons is scheduled for completion sometime in 1967.

These moves of shipbuilders mirror the insatiable demand for large-size tankers, standard size of which has grown from 20,000-DWT to 47,000-DWT in the last few years. Indications are that 70,000 or 100,000 tonners will be the standard type of the future. In fact, the Idemitsu Kosan Co. have ordered two 130,000-DWT tankers from local shipbuilders. Ore carriers, too, are expected to enlarge their capacity to 65,000 tons or more when port facilities are improved.

Three other shipbuilders, at least, are now cementing similar projects. These are Mitsubishi, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Reorganized and Kawasaki Dockyard.

New Toyota Plant

Because of unexpectedly brisk sales of Publica cars, the Toyota Motor Co. has decided to build a ¥2,000-million plant serving exclusively for the production of the people's car.

Catering to the evergrowing car demand in this country, the 28-hp. Publica offered at the popular price of ¥389,000 was placed on the market at the end of June, this year. Some 5,000 Publicas will be turned out during a four-month period from June to September but this falls far short of the swelling sales contracts, it is reported.

The new plant, scheduled to be built in Toyota City, Aichi Prefecture, is expected to increase the production to 5,000 monthly or to 10,000 per month in case the plant is operated on double shifts. The assembly line occupying an area of 33,000 square meters will go up at a plot measuring a total of 30,000 square meters in the north of Toyota's main plant. Part of the plant will go into operation around next spring.

Hydrofoil Boats

The Kawasaki Dockyard Co. will shortly dispatch a team of technicians to Boeing Airplane Co. in the United States to conduct joint research on hydrofoil boats of antisubmarine purpose. The new-fangled boats are being developed as destroyers of the future both at the Boeing and Grumman plants, Kawasaki said.

The Japanese shipbuilding company is considering conclusion of a technical agreement with Boeing on the hydrofoil boats and to supply them to the Self-Defense Force here.

The hydrofoil destroyer under development at Boeing displaces from 200 tons to 300 tons, will be powered with a 20,000-hp. engine and is capable of developing a maximum of 100 knots.

Plastic Dome

The Sumitomo Electric Industries, Ltd. has completed a novel type of plastic dome for protecting radar antenna from rain and snow.

The hemispheric dome, about 16.8 meters in diameter, consists of 275 pieces of triangular plastic panel made of polyester resin and glass fiber. The whole structure is made pervious to radio waves and noninflammable. Claimed to withstand wind up to a velocity of 68 meters per second, the dome is safe against storms and earthquakes, according to the manufacturers.

Beside being an ideal protective shelter for radar antenna, it is also offered as a warehouse and a pavilion at a fair site. It takes about seven persons 18 hours to put up the dome completely.

H'kong's Garment Exports Decline

HONGKONG (AP) — Hongkong's garment exports to the United States dropped by more than 45 per cent in the first half of 1961.

The latest official trade figures show garment exports to the United States from January through June totaled only U.S.$20 million compared to U.S.$38 million for the corresponding period last year.

Garments are Hongkong's most important industry accounting for more than 35 per cent of this colony's 1960 total exports.

Exports of textile yarns, fabrics and made-up articles to the United States in the six months also dropped from U.S. $7,400,000 to U.S. $5,400,000.

Hongkong's total exports in the first half of this year amounted to U.S.$242 million a decrease of 2 per cent from the same period last year.

Exports to the United States alone dropped from U.S. 70 million to U.S.$48 million. Imports from the United States jumped from U.S.$68 million to U.S.$79 million.

The United Kingdom remainded Hongkong's best customer. It bought from this colony U.S.$55 million worth of goods in the period under review. This figure represents an increase of U.S.$6,100,000 over the corresponding period in 1960.

Red China, Hongkong's principal food supplier, sold to this colony only U.S.$81 million worth of goods, a drop of U.S.$15 million from the same period last year.

Imports from Japan also dropped from U.S.$82,500,000 to U.S.$73 million.

3rd Japan-Built Sub Launched

KOBE — The Wakashio, the third submarine to be built in postwar Japan, was launched at the Kawasaki Dockyard here yesterday morning.

Upon completion of this vessel and the Hayashio, another submarine of the same type which was earlier launched at the dockyard here of the Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Reorganized, Ltd., the Maritime Self-Defense Force will have four submarines in commission.

With a displacement of 750 tons, the new submarine is 59 meters long and 6.5 meters wide and is equipped with two diesel engines. The Wakashio has a top speed of 14 knots under water.

The Wakashio will have three torpedo tubes and the latest radio equipment.

The ¥1,700 million vessel is expected to be turned over to the Defense Agency next July.

Notes for Investors

Despite expectations for a rally, the stock market opened this week with the weak tone continued from the week before.

One of the reasons, according to observers, is that despite the hesitancy of some top Government quarters in raising the Bank of Japan's official discount rate investors expected an increase sooner or later.

Jiro Ohta, director of stock operations of the Nomura Securities Co., predicted that there would be no bank rate increase within next month unless the Bank of Japan Policy Board decided on this Friday. Then, he said, the market would become active at the weekend.

Other securities sources predict that maneuver buying by the Yamaichi Securities Co. (which is shortly settling its open-end investment trusts), would give incentive to a reactionary rise of stock prices.

Amidst the generally sluggish market tone, shipbuilding stocks, bought by Nikko Securities, and electric power stocks, purchased by Nomura, were conspicuous by their firm tone.

APL Liner Brings U.S. Gift of Cattle

A record shipment of 21 registered Jersey cows arrived in Yokohama yesterday aboard the S.S. President Taylor of American President Lines as gifts from Heifer Project Inc. of the United States to the Mokpo Children's Home and the Pusan Yonsei Vocational College of Korea and the International Christian University of Tokyo.

Dr. Dillon Wesley Throckmorton, director, Western Division, Heifer Project Inc., who accompanied the cattle on the Taylor will turn over nine heifers and one bull each to the Korean institutions and one bull to the Japanese college as donations from private citizenes and groups in the United States.

Heifer Project Inc. is an interfaith relief and rehabilitation organization which sends contributed livestock and poultry to agriculturally developing countries. Since 1944 the organization has shipped 25,000 animals and 785,000 baby chicks and hatching eggs to 60 countries.

Heifer Project Inc. distributes the animals on the condition that the recipient give the first-born animal—offspring to someone else in need.

Dr Throckmorton was greeted on arrival by Rev. Kentaro Buma, director of the Japan Church World Service. The Heifer Project has already sent 150 cows to Japan for distribution through Dr. Buma's group.

U.S. Proposes 5% Increase In Cotton Goods Exports

The United States yesterday proposed to Japan a 5 per cent over-all increase in the framework of Japan's cotton goods exports to the U.S. in 1962 over this year, explaining that it will mean an 8.4 per cent rise over the 1960 framework and a 22.4 per cent raise over actual 1960 exports.

The proposal was made in the sixth-day session of the current Japan-U.S. cotton goods trade talks which opened in Tokyo Aug. 22.

The U.S. delegation, headed by Warren M. Christopher, special consultant to the Undersecretary of State, also urged the Japanese negotiators to accept the 5 per cent increase proposal, explaining that the U.S. is offering Japan special privileges in granting an exceptional increase in its exports as compared with a 30 per cent cut it will make in purchases from Hongkong in 1962. The U.S. is trying to be fair to Japan on the basis of decisions reached at the last international cotton trade conference at Geneva since the latter's past voluntary efforts to cut exports to the U.S. were taken advantage of by Japan's rival cotton goods exporting nations.

The Japanese delegation, however, is yet to put forth its own demand or reply to the U.S. proposal. The question of disruption of the U.S. textile market by Japanese cotton goods is also a subject pending discussions. So is the question of reducing the classification of controlled Japanese cotton goods as Japan proposed. In this respect, the U.S. side has indicated that it would agree to some reduction from a total of 64 items agreed on at the Geneva conference.

Joint Pump Parts Firm Formed Here

Two Japanese firms and the Union Pump Co. of the U.S. have established a joint firm to engage in the manufacture of pumping machinery parts for the U.S. company.

Japanese partners are the Kinoshita Sansho Co., capitalized at ¥2,000 million, and the Dengyosha Machinery Works, capitalized at ¥240 million.

The joint firm, Nihon Union Pump Co., will be capitalized at ¥54 million, half of which will be furnished by the U.S. firm.

The firm will be headed by Matsukichi Miyoshi, president, Dengyosha Machinery Works. It will engage in the manufacture of parts of pumping machinery at first and production and sale of finished pumps later.

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Official sources here said an eight-man group of West German experts Saturday started preparatory studies for construction of a high dam on the River Euphrates.

The experts were due to present their report on the dam's construction plans before the middle of next year. Construction was scheduled to start in the second half of 1962.

Indian Per Capita Income Still $69.3

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru forecasts that India's per capita income will reach $111.30 by 1976.

Nehru told Parliament the present per capita income of his 438 million countrymen was $69.3. He also envisioned a growth of national income from the present $29,000 million to $67,000 million by 1976.

The Prime Minister made the predictions while introducing to Parliament the final draft of India's third five-year development plan. The new plan covers the period from April 1, 1961 through March 31, 1966.

The third plan promises no immediate millenium but provides for some notable strides in the right direction. One of its key provisions is for a 30 per cent increase in agriculture, enough to feed a projected population of 492 million, by 1966.

Per capita income for the period is expected to rise to $80.85.

Other significant increase envisioned are —Steel production to 9,300,000 tons, up from 3,500,000.

—Aluminium production to 80,000 tons, up from 18,500 tons.

—Electrical power to 12,700,000 kilowatts, up from 5,700,000.

—Students in schools to 63,900,000, up from 43,500,000.

The total cost financing the third five-year plan has been set at about $21,000 million. The foreign assistance needed is roughly $5,500,000. Of the total outlay, $12,600,000 is to be spent in the public of Government-owned sector with $8,200,000 alloted to private undertakings.

Australian Ships

LONDON (UPI)—In the next three and a half years Australian shipyards will complete new ships of a total dead weight of 130,000 tons for commercial owners and the Government. Apart from a 32,000-ton tanker, the yards have orders for four bulk ore carriers of between 16,000 and 21,000 tons for the Broken Hill Pty Co., the mining complex.

American Airlines cuts $83.70 off jet Coach fares across the U.S.A.

New jet Excursion fares cost only $198.00 for round-trip flights.

There are several very good reasons for flying American Airlines. One of the best is the fare. For only $198.00 round-trip (plus tax) you can fly jet Coach coast-to-coast (including non-stop flights on the new Astrojet*). This Excursion fare is effective Monday noon to Friday noon on round-trips completed within 30 days, but not before 13 days. Check your travel agent for information and reservations.

Big Progress Seen Ahead in Pakistan

LONDON (UPI)—A top British economic survey and research organization suggested Saturday that a "big leap forward" might be imminent in Pakistan's development.

The Economist Intelligence Unit, Ltd., said the budget for the year starting last July 1 "may mark a turning point in Pakistan's economic progress."

The review, which provides up-to-date assessment for people with business interests abroad, based its optimistic view on the following:

—"For the first time, no new taxation is considered necessary to meet the continually rising expenditure on economic development."

—Since the first Military Government budget for 1958—59 "a large rise in the foreign exchange reserves, in spite of simultaneous import liberalization. Deficit financing has been eliminated, and the rise in prices has been held within bounds despite progressive removal of price controls."

—"A rapid rise in mining and manufacturing production, and a similar, though still very inadequate, rise in agricultural output" with exports last year reaching a level not exceeded since 1951.

—Foreign governmental aid "on an unprecedented scale" with a further increase "probable" and private foreign investment also "rapidly increasing." The review said this was so despite complaints by the Pakistanis regarding aid granted by the World Bank aid-to-Pakistan consortium.

"—It will be surprising if Pakistan does not get an increase of one-fifth in foreign aid corresponding to the increase in the (second five-year) plan costs" when the consortium meets in December, it added.

The review's conclusion was that "the economic prospects appear favorable for the restoration of democracy which the Constitutional Commission seems to envisage."

It said "a period of more rapid economic progress is probable in the next year or two."

Renault's New Car Equipped With 5 Doors

LONDON (Kyodo-Reuter)—A car which will need no greasing and no attention to its water cooling system throughout its life was announced here by the French firm of Renault.

It is the Renault Four, a 750 cc four seater, five-door saloon. The fifth door is at the rear to give access to a luggage platform behind the rear seat.

Its designers have done away with greasing by using sealed bearings, lubrication-free brushes, solid lubricants and rubber packing between sliding surfaces.

Routine maintenance consists only of checking tire pressure, changing oils, checking brakes fluid and battery levels and periodic engine inspections.

The designers have been able to seal off the water cooling system and so do away with "topping up." There is a small reservoir to allow the coolant, a mixture of water and anti-freeze, to expand and contract.

All seats, on tubular frames, can be taken out and used as picnic or even beach chairs.

Top speed is 65 miles an hour and fuel consumption is claimed to be between 50 and 55 miles to the gallon.

The price will be announced during October.

Political Crisis in Brazil

The resignation of Brazilian President Janio Quadros last Friday came so unexpectedly that it was described in some quarter as a "thunderclap."

Nevertheless, it had been widely believed that Mr. Quadros would find it difficult to maintain his position for any length of time in view of growing dissatisfaction with his policy of "playing ball" with the leftists both in domestic and foreign affairs.

His foreign policy and his friendly attitude toward the Castro regime in Cuba brought him many critics and when Vice President Goulart was permitted to go to Peiping, where he signed a trade agreement with the Chinese Reds and issued a fulsome manifesto praising their regime on the Chinese mainland, active disapproval was apparent in the more conservative circles in Brazil.

There is no direct evidence to suggest that Mr. Quadros was ever an out-and-out Communist; he seems to be a leftist theorist of the professor type desirous of conducting Brazil along new paths involving closer relations with Moscow and Peiping.

Despite his big success at the general election seven months ago, he appears to have found difficulty from the first in picking up the threads of office from former President Juscelino Kubitschek, an eminently practical administrator. He had, of course, to face the difficult and intractable financial situation which has so long plagued Brazil. Of recent years the chief exports of Brazil have tended to drop in value and it has become evident that the country must adopt a more aggressive foreign trade policy including the defense of its position in the world coffee market. In addition, it is imperative that Brazil must diversify the structure of her exports. It was probably the economic situation, as much as political leanings, which prompted the Quadros administration to seek trade tie-ups among the Communist bloc. But the United States is still Brazil's largest customer and the new policy was regarded askance by many businessmen and industrialists dependent upon American connections. In military circles, too, Mr. Quadros was unpopular as being an innovator with leftist tendencies.

President Quadros' resignation having taken place before Vice President Goulart had returned from his Communist China trip, the question of the succession to the Presidency has become a controversial issue. War Minister Odilio Denys declared Saturday night that the armed forces would not permit Mr. Goulart to become President. He said Mr. Goulart would be arrested as soon as he sets foot on Brazilian soil unless he surrendered his claim to that office. Mr. Goulart himself stated during a plane stopover at Karachi that the succession to the Presidency was "automatic" and he was obliged to accept it under the Constitution. He has a strong point here but there is a possibility that the opposition may be so strong as to secure the setting aside of the Constitution itself or perhaps its amendment. On the other hand, supporters of Mr. Goulart, who include the Brazilian Labor Party, have threatened trouble and perhaps civil war if attempts are made to block him from assuming the Presidency.

When President Quadros resigned, he declared that "forces of reaction" both inside and outside of Brazil had "crushed" his program. Mr. Goulart is a firm supporter of that program and there seems a likelihood, if he persists in demanding the presidential office, that there will be a fierce struggle between the conservative elements and the leftists.

Meanwhile, Moscow Radio in characteristic fashion, has already accused "crude intervention by the United States in Brazil's affairs" as being responsible for Mr. Quadros' resignation. It said the latter's efforts to follow policies independent of Washington and moves to establish relations with Communist countries had brought American pressure to bear and this pressure had forced him to resign. In Cuba, Dr. Fidel Castro declared the "Yankee State Department, the monopolist imperialists and other enemies of national independence" must be jubilant at the news of Mr. Quadros' resignation and added, "with his absence, America loses one of the firmest defenders of the principle of autodetermination."

There is little doubt that the Communists and their fellow travelers had entertained great hopes that the Brazilian nation could be enticed into the Red bloc's net and that the advent of ex-President Quadros to power could be converted into the means for securing this end. It looks as if they are doomed to disappointment. Even if Mr. Goulart is permitted to return to assume the Presidency, it is unlikely that he would obtain a free hand to continue to Quadros policy. Communism has no great following in the country and, although conditions in some parts of the country, especially in the northeastern states, are difficult, the majority of Brazilians are convinced that free enterprise and good relations with the United States are essential factors in building up their country.

Japan has close relations with Brazil, and some 500,000 Japanese immigrants are in the country, and it will be the wish here that the present political crisis can be weathered without serious disturbances. Brazil has undoubtedly a great future and her present troubles are essentially those of growing pains. The growth from a largely agricultural economy to a modern, highly industrialized one is proving as difficult in Brazil as elsewhere but the prospects are bright given political stability.

Ikeda's Reply to Khrushchev

Excellency:

I wish to thank you for your letter delivered to me by First Deputy Premier Mikoyan on the occasion of his visit to Japan and to express my good wishes for the peace, happiness and prosperity of the people of the Soviet Union.

Like Your Excellency, I expect the Soviet Commercial and Industrial Trade Fair now being held in Tokyo will, as in the case of the Japan Trade Fair held in Moscow last year, achieve great success and contribute to the promotion and development of commercial and economic exchanges between Japan and the Soviet Union.

In the letter you entrusted to Mr. Mikoyan, Your Excellency has expressed the views of the Soviet Government and of yourself relating to the general relations between Japan and the Soviet Union. Availing myself of this opportunity, I wish, on my own part, to clarify my country's basic foreign policy concepts, with particular emphasis on the relations between our two countries.

Your Excellency has indicated that the Soviet Government earnestly desires to establish peaceful, friendly and cooperative relations with my country in accordance with the principles of mutual respect for equality, independence and sovereignty and that it wishes to settle all pending problems by discussion and to normalize completely the relations between our two countries. Moreover, Your Excellency has expressed the view that there are possibilities to develop exchanges and cooperation between the peoples of Japan and of the Soviet Union, on the basis of the foregoing, such as would be beneficial to both sides. While I concur with Your Excellency's views on these points, it is my belief that such possibilities can be found only when there is mutual recognition by one country of the position of the other and when, on this basis, our two countries faithfully adhere to the Japan-Soviet Joint Declaration which they have solemnly entered into as an international agreement.

Your Excellency referred to the complete normalization of relations between Japan and the Soviet Union, but to achieve this it is necessary to conclude a peace treaty between the two countries. The people of Japan believe that it is the Soviet Union which is in fact in the position to open the way for a peace treaty by returning to Japan territories which are integrally hers. Your Excellency, however, has brought up the subject of the Security Treaty which we have concluded with the United States and the foreign military bases which are maintained within our territory and insists as if they are blocking the normalization of Japan-Soviet relations. Your Excellency is aware that the Japan-United States Security Treaty was already in existence at the time our two countries signed the Joint Declaration with the intention of normalizing our relations. Moreover, the Joint Declaration affirms the inherent right of individual or collective defense provided for in Article 51 of the United Nations Charter. It should be added that subsequently this treaty was rationally revised in accordance with the will of the Japanese people and thereby its purely defensive character, based on the United Nations Charter, was further clarified. Such being the case, the Soviet Government's insistence that it cannot be indifferent to the existence of such a treaty because it menaces the Soviet Union and other peace-loving states and that it therefore be abolished is totally beyond the comprehension of the people of Japan. For a country which has no intention of threatening the security of another country, obviously there should be no reason to say that this treaty is a threat. To interpret unilaterally and subjectively and to denounce the foreign and defense policies of another country and then to call on that country to change those policies is, I must say, quite inconsistent with the principle of noninterference in the domestic affairs of other countries which Your Excellency has stated as being the policy of the Soviet Government.

While advocating the complete abolition of military blocs, the Soviet Government, even before the conclusion of the former Japan-United States Security Treaty, entered into a military alliance treaty with Communist China with Japan as its objective and very recently concluded a mutual assistance pact with North Korea, in complete contradiction with what Your Excellency has described as the position of your Government. These facts, together with the fact that the Soviet Union maintains military bases in Eastern European countries, are well known to the Japanese people. Your Excellency well knows that United States military bases exist not only in Japan, but also in the United Kingdom and other countries.

Japan pursues freedom and democracy as the highest political ideals. This is and will continue to be our immutable policy. Even if a country pursues a different political ideology from our own, we do not hesitate to establish neighborly and amicable relations with that country so long as it strictly observes at all times the principles of peaceful settlement of disputes, nonresort to threats of force, and absolute noninterference in the domestic affairs of other countries.

It was in this spirit that the Japanese Government, on its part, signed the Japan-Soviet Joint Declaration. I wish to emphasize at this time that my country will continue consistently to act in this spirit and endeavor to contribute to world peace through mutual understanding and friendly cooperation.

In the past few years, trade between our countries has been making satisfactory growth, and I wish to make further efforts for its expansion. If, at such time, our trade is expanded in items necessary to improve the consumer side of our people's lives, it is obvious that the scale of our trade should make a conspicuous increase.

Cultural exchange between Japan and the Soviet Union has also become quite active in recent years. The Japanese Government is prepared to present to your Government in the near future a draft cultural agreement based on a form which we consider to be appropriate.

During his recent visit in Japan, Mr. Mikoyan personally saw the material well-being and spiritual assets enjoyed by the Japanese people at large. The purpose of the Japanese Government's program to double the people's income within ten years is to make life more abundant for our people. I believe the fact that Mr. Mikoyan was able to familiarize himself with the true situation in Japan through his contacts with people of all walks of life, not limiting himself to meeting a segment of our people with one-sided political views, will contribute greatly to the improvement of Japan-Soviet relations in the future.

I endorse Your Excellency's call for competition to increase the material well-being and spiritual assets of the people in the place of competition in the production of the means of destruction. It is my sincere hope that the Soviet Government will not render impossible the conclusion of an agreement to end nuclear testing by posing difficult conditions. Fully realizing that a nuclear war would mean the destruction, not only of the belligerent countries, but of all mankind, I earnestly wish that the Soviet Government would suspend the manufacture and destroy the stockpiles of the horrorful nuclear weapons and thereby contribute to the establishment of world peace.

World peace is today the common aspiration of all the peoples of the world, and prosperity their common desire. It is my hope that our two countries, standing on this position, will hereafter settle their outstanding problems by candid discussions.

Yours sincerely,
Hayato Ikeda
Prime Minister

Deplorable Truck Drivers

To the Editor:

In recent months, a number of serious automobile accidents have taken place on the stretch of highway between Yokohama and Hachioji. Many of these accidents have involved loss of life—and those who died were rarely the cause of the accidents.

To those of us who drive this road regularly, the cause of most of these accidents is quite obvious. It is the completely unregulated and callous manner in which the large, gravel-hauling dump truck drivers drive their trucks. These truck drivers, almost to the man, consistently fail to observe basic traffic regulations such as speed limit, passing on hills and curves, turning on parking lights when parking on the road at night, and stopping at stop signs. And to add to the problem, the truck drivers take reckless advantage of the size of their trucks, ignoring the rules of right of way and often forcing the drivers of smaller vehicles to pull off the road to avoid collisions.

As traffic conditions on the highways of Japan become more congested, a certain increase in the accident rate is to be expected. But there is no excuse for the wanton disregard for the safety of other drivers shown by these gravel truck drivers. Rumor has it that many of the gravel hauling concerns are owned by government officials and this explains the apparent immunity from the law the truck drivers seem to enjoy. Whether or not this is the case, it is all too evident that the law enforcement agencies are not doing their job.

This deplorable condition is especially irritating to us Americans because there is a tradition of careful driving and consideration for others among truck drivers back home. And it comes as something of a shock in a country as modern and progressive as Japan is in most respects, to see so little effort made to check this serious menace both to public safety, and to the good will of that portion of the American community which uses the same roads these trucks do.

In conclusion, let me draw the obvious conclusion and say that responsible officials must take steps to correct this grave problem. In the first place, it seems that more care should be exercised in the issuance of driver's licenses. A clean traffic violation record and a thorough knowledge of the traffic law should certainly be prerequisites. Secondly, the law must be enforced and enforced rigidly. For only in this way, can that measure of safety to which the driving public is entitled, be ensured.

Tokyo Olympics, 1964

To the Editor:

It is a matter for congratulation that the Olympic Games are going to be held here in Tokyo in 1964. I, as a Japanese, cannot but hope with my fingers crossed, that nothing troublesome will take place, until the joyous fanfare resounds, telling all the world of the closing of the colorful program.

We can justly be proud of the fact that this long-awaited event is going to be held in our country. It is really unprecedented in the Orient. Our joys are redoubled when we think that this is a kind of success story after many years of abortive efforts.

On second thought, however, we find ourselves forced to believe that the problem is not so simple. Our authorities seem to have been too much engrossed in the invitation itself, without due consideration of our economic and social conditions. I, for one, am of the opinion that this is a premature action.

It would neither be too late nor amiss, if this invitation were made after the national reconstruction in every phase is satisfactorily and substantially accomplished. Our economic growth is unrivaled among the free nations indeed, but there are many things to be desired before having a tremendous influx of visitors from overseas.

To mention only a few examples, it is a lack of prudence that our Olympic committee took it for granted that we could use, for accommodation purposes, military bases which are now acquisitioned by the U.S. Army. All the related projects were constructed upon the hopeful assumption that the Army would gladly return to us the said facilities.

To say nothing of the fact that the event itself will be very costly, it is sure to entail a vast amount of incidental expenditure. Our road conditions are still poor, when judged by Western standards; hotel accommodation is not as sufficient as it should be. It behooves us, however, to solve these problems in three years, or 1,000 days.

Despite the shortcomings we are happy for we can welcome guests from all corners of the distant lands. It is up to us to make up with cordial hospitality what we lack in material preparations.

As has often been pointed out, the aim of the Olympic Games is not to win but to participate. In this sense, we should like to take part in, to be well-prepared in our mental attitude. In other words, we are inclined to ask overseas guests not to be disappointed, even if the over-all material facilities should fall short of their expectations.

Let us complement and substitute, as the case maybe, the inadequacy of facilities with hospitality.

Cats and Dogs

Cats and dogs are not friendly. There are several stories that tell how they come to be so hostile to each other. One such is the story of Koshiki Island.

There was once a kind-hearted boatman who loved animals. One day he saw children beating a snake, a dog and a cat. He rescued them from the hand of the mischievous youths and took them all home. The snake happened to be the Princess of Ryugu or Undersea Palace. In thanks for his kind act, the snake gave him a magic ring that would bring anything he wanted. Thus the boatman became rich.

A cow dealer of Osaka heard of the magic ring and succeeded in robbing it from the boatman, who consequently became poor. The dog and the cat, learning of the loss of the ring, set out to regain it. Reaching the house of the cow dealer, they found it concealed deep in a big jar. But as they could not reach it, the cat caught a mouse and made it bring up the ring.

They started to return home, the dog holding the ring in its mouth. But on a bridge over a river, the dog met another dog. As they commenced to snap at each other, the ring dropped into the river.

Thereupon the cat went to the river edge, and catching a crab ordered it to gather all the crabs of the river and have them search for the lost ring. The magic ring was again found, and the dog proudly returned home with it.

The dog told the whole story to the boatman telling that by his own efforts he succeeded in regaining the ring. But the cat became angry at the boasting dog and told the part it played in finding the ring. The boatman then punished the dog for telling a falsehood, and ordered that the dog should always eat outdoors while the cat ate in the house.

Since then the dog and the cat were never on good terms. Even today dogs and cats are always fighting, cats eating in the house, and dogs eating outdoors.

Opinions From Abroad

Mikoyan's Bullying

BALTIMORE (Kyodo-Reuter) —The Baltimore Sun said Anastas Mikoyan, Soviet deputy premier, behaved like a bully on his tour of Japan.

"Premier Khrushchev's deputy, Mr. Mikoyan, went to Japan ostensibly as an ambassador of goodwill and to open a trade fair. In fact he went to spread what trouble and confusion he could. How far did he succeed?

"It is true that Japan is still far from sure of itself. It is still finding its bearings as a constitutional democracy. It is torn between a growing sense of identity with the West and the pull of Asia. Memory of Hiroshima is still vivid. It has a substantial Marxist minority. For nine days Mr. Mikoyan ranged up and down the islands probing at these weak spots, pouring abuse on the United States-Japanese Security Treaty, on the United States, and in general on the attitudes and activities of the Free World.

"Here and there he was able to address substantial 'arranged' crowds. But at times his audience was fewer in numbers than the police assigned to guard him. His abuse of the West and of Japan's foreign policy got a stony reception, and at one point a protest from the Government. His probing of Japan's vulnerable spots caused discomfort and pain, and anger.

"There are times when bullying can be effective. There are other times when bullying backfires. On this trip Mr. Mikoyan showed himself a master of bad timing. In so far as he made friends, they were for the West."

Aliens in P.I.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Filipino American carried a front page editorial criticizing Philippine Commerce Secretary Manuel Lim for his attempt to halt the employment of aliens in the Philippines.

"Secretary Manuel Lim of the Department of Commerce and Industry is a Filipino patriot of the first order," it said. "That we cannot deny." But in the pursuit of his national policy for the highest good of the nation, more often than not he overplays his role by going beyond the borders of decency and common sense. Like, for instance, his circulars directing all firms in the Philippines to list all alien personnel and to cease their employment by Dec. 31, this year.

"President Garcia was wise to suspend the enforcement of Secretary Lim's arbitrary circulars. Lim should know the facts of international life. The Philippines is a member of the concert of civilized nations and she cannot with impunity disregard the rights of foreign nationals in her territory. How would Mr. Lim like it if the United States, for example, passes such a law requiring all firms in the nation to cease employing all aliens, and that includes Filipinos of course, within a specified period?

"The retail trade nationalization law of the Philippines as it was passed by the Philippine Congress is unwise and unwarranted, illegal and unconstitutional . . . God has given us brains to think with, but Secretary Lim and many of his colleagues in the Philippines do not seem to display much gray matter in their heads."

Pondicherry

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The Indian Express has called on the government to bring about a speedly legal transfer of the former French enclave of Pondicherry to India.

The enclave, located in South India, has been under the de facto control of the Indian Government since 1954, its legal transfer has been stalled by lack of parliamentary action in France.

The Express said, "why should it (the Indian Government) not ordain a time limit for a formal and final settlement, failing which Pondicherry would be automatically integrated with India?"

"To all intents and purposes Pondicherry is a part of India and there is no reason its complete integration should await the pleasure of Paris when even tiny Dadra and Nagar Haveli (former Portuguese enclaves) have been merged into India despite the protest of Lisbon," the paper said.

Belgrade Conference

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Chronicle said it would be as "dangerous as it is stupid" to believe the coming conference of neutral nations at Belgrade was unfavorable to the United States.

"It is as dangerous as it is stupid," it said, "to assess this conference under any version of the prosecution that he who is not with us is against us." The nations that are meeting propose to develop their own political and economic ways of life, the paper said.

"They resent restraints or compulsion from either side. This is a truth that the United States may have been slow in learning, but its validity has now been made plain in Laos . . . when it was made clear that the intent had been changed, that the objective was to preserve the nationalism and independence of Laos, with no strings attached, the increment of Asian and African goodwill was enormous."

The paper said it was worth noting "that the host nation for this conference on unified neutralist policy is Yugoslavia—the first Communist nation to spin away from the Kremlin's gravitational pull."

Brazilian Thunderclap

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Herald Tribune expressed hope President Quadros' resignation would not be exploited by "reckless self-seekers" or by Castroists.

In an editorial titled "thunderclap in Brazil" the paper said: "Neither his (Quadros') record nor the huge majority he won less than a year ago in national elections could lead the observer to believe he was anything but a vigorous and able politician.

"Such men do not bow out for nothing. Will there now be an eruption? It is possible Mr. Quardros has resigned only to return to power, by votes or violence, on his own terms. For the present, we must hope that the vacuum created by his departure is not filled by reckless self-seekers—or by the followers of Fidel Castro.

"The Brazilians are no longer content to remain classified with the smaller Latin-American states in a hemisphere circle dominated by the United States. Brazil is on the threshold of strong nationhood and worldwide influence. It is determined to pick and see its own way.

"That way, apparently, was not precisely Quadros', but it will resemble it in the sense that Brazilians, feeling their power and importance, are not going to be told what to do by any one, especially the United States."

Textile Problem

MANCHESTER (Kyodo-Reuter)—The Guardian said the British Government must help Asian Commonwealth textile exporters to gain easier access to the European market.

"Lancashire has reason to be grateful for the good sense of the Hongkong textile industry in agreeing to extend the restriction on its exports to this country," the paper said.

"The present agreement has not worked out well for Hongkong. The slightly more flexible terms on which the restrictions are to be continued during the next year should allow the Hongkong mills to take a fairer share of any trade that is going."

The paper added, however, that the "main reason" for the extension was to smooth the way for the international working party which in October starts drafting a long-term agreement to regulate low-cost textile imports.

"Having persuaded the Commonwealth countries to limit their sales for Lancashire's benefit in the past, the British Government must now use its influence to ensure that in any new multilateral agreement the developing countries are given more generous access to the prosperous European markets."

As for the Lancashire industry itself, the paper felt the mill owner's excuse for not pushing through the reorganization program "will lose some of its force." Their argument had been based on uncertainty over the future scale of Commonwealth imports.

"And Lancashire cannot afford to wait much longer to bring itself up to date if it is to meet the competition of the Common Market countries with any confidence," the paper added.

Press Comments Summarized

Ikeda's Reply

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda sent his reply to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's message delivered through Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan. It is natural that Prime Minister Ikeda stressed the Soviet Premier's view on the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty is based on distortion and bias. It is particularly significant that Ikeda criticized the Soviet Union for its failure to abide by the 1956 Japan-Soviet Joint Declaration for resumption of diplomatic relations. On the basis of the declaration, the Soviet Union pledged to return to Japan the two Hokkaido islands of Habomai and Shikotan. It is proper that the Prime Minister pointed out this Soviet attitude stands in the way of normalization of the two nations' relations.—Tokyo Shimbun

Labor Force

Industry is now suffering from an acute shortage of young workers. On the other hand, it is also true that older workers, once out of employment, are finding it extremely difficult to get new jobs. It is also possible to see that the labor situation is regionally imbalanced. These phenomena are undesirable when viewed from the angles of national economy, social policy and labor relations. It is therefore considered pertinent and timely that the Employment Deliberation Council adopted its recommendation for presentation to the Government on unemployment problems. It is particularly welcome that the council stressed the need of facilitating a flow of labor among regions and strengthening measures for creating more jobs for older persons.—Mainichi Shimbun

School Tests

The Education Ministry is planning to give a nationwide scholastic attainments test Oct. 26 to junior and senior students of junior high schools in spite of strong opposition raised by members of the Japan Teachers Union. The ministry claims that the purpose of the test is to get a clear picture of scholastic attainments at junior high schools and to improve the nation's education accordingly. However, if the ministry aims at getting an overall picture of scholastic attainments, why does it pick up only five subjects and exclude all the rest? The answer is not clear. The ministry says the test will also serve to pick up highly qualified students who need financial help from the Government to continue studying. However, there is a great difference between students in cities and students in countrysides, and the test will not serve for this purpose. Despite the obscurity which shrouds the expressed purpose of the test, teachers belonging to the JTU can wait and see the result of the test. A head-on clash with the ministry should be avoided through talks.—Asahi Shimbun

Fertilizer Price

It is still impossible for quarters concerned to come to a decision on the new price of ammonium sulphate. This delay is caused by the fact that the Government and industry have so far failed to agree on how to rebuild the industry and on the problem of repealing the two fertilizer laws. The ammonium sulphate industry's so-called export deficit totaled ¥15,500 million as of the end of July. The deficit is attributable to the two fertilizer laws which peg the domestic price of ammonium sulphate at a low level. In the view of the Finance Ministry, the laws are not responsible for the deficit. The industry is dissatisfied with the ministry's view. It will be necessary for the Government to help the industry to tide over its present predicament.—Yomiuri Shimbun

Balance-of-Payments

Masamichi Yamagiwa, governor of the Bank of Japan, announced Wednesday that another boost in the bank rate was unavoidable if the chronic adverse balance-of-payments situation is to be improved. He also urged the Government to study new measures for tightening money. Some sources believed that the previous raise in the bank rate would gradually take effect, but there are no indications that the chief target of the Government action—rapid capital investment—has been affected.—Hokkaido Shimbun (Sapporo)
